A Letter From the County of Harlan.

HARLAN, KY., March 4. Dear Home Paper—We note that we are to have a new editor. Well, we bid him welcome, hoping that he will continue to make our good Lincoln county paper as good or better (if it could be) than ever. The people at home never appreciate their home paper as they should until they are away a while and the homefolks don't write as often as we would like for them to do. So when a paper like the I. J. comes to us twice a week we are able to keep tab on things back at our old home.

Wonder what Editor Walton is going to do? He surely will never be satisfied unless he is in some printing office, or out on the street with note book and pencil in hand. We remember very well how he used to ask us if we had a letter for him from the Highland correspondent, and say: "By the way, I wish you would see if you can wake up that writer; a letter from that vicinity is read by us with much delight."

I will now give my friends a few words concerning our whereabouts and our work at present, etc. We are serving the Harlan charge as pastor of M. E. church this year. We live in the town of Harlan, in the parsonage. We have a good church edifice, besides two in the country and others that will be dedicated in the near future. We have three other churches in town, viz: Baptist, Presbyterian and Christian. The Presbyterians have an academy here. Good work is being accomplished by them. The town of Harlan is at the head of the Cumberland river, three forks uniting here.

The thing of greatest interest to the people of Harlan county at present seems to be a new railroad which the L. & N. is having constructed up the river near Pineville. Rapid progress is being made and within a few months we can ride down along the Cumberland on the cars and get on the main line at Washtoto or Pineville, instead of going by way of Hagan, Va., to get to other parts in our State. Wishing our new editor success, Very Truly,
E. E. YOUNG.

Don't Break Down.

Severe strains on the vital organs, like strains on machinery, cause break downs. You can't over-tax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run-down, or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters the matchless tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande, of Kirkland, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain, for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed. 50c at Penny's Drug Store.

No honest man, we care not how much he may be opposed to the county unit bill, can have the proper respect for the fellow who will promise his people to vote for the bill in order to be elected to office, and then violate that promise after his election. The Senate will no doubt kill the county unit bill; nor is there any doubt that the county unit bill will kill a number of members of the present Senate.—Cadiz Record.

"What was your impression of Europe?"

"Well, judging from what mother and the girls say, there doesn't seem to be much to the place except art and matrimony. It depends for revenue almost entirely on pictures and pedigrees."

Beecher Cooper, who had been given a sentence of one year for obtaining money under false pretenses, and Lincoln Cornett, of Perry county, awaiting trial in the United States Court for retailing whisky without license, escaped from the London jail.

As a result of a fierce battle with three lions at the ranch of Cherokee Ed Baumeister, five miles west of Lebanon, Samuel Rose lies in a local hospital in a precarious condition. In the absence of the regular keeper, Rose, who is Baumeister's secretary, went to a cage containing the lions to scatter some straw in it and the beasts jumped on him. Baumeister arrived and shot the lions, but failed to kill any of them.

The Union Christian Endeavor exercises at the Christian church Sunday evening were both interesting and enjoyable. Miss Bessie Yantis led and Mrs. J. J. Dickey, Rev. J. T. Hoskins, Messrs. J. B. Paxton and C. E. Tate made timely talks. The music was a feature of the exercises.

"So the bride and groom especially requested their friends not to throw rice after them?"

"Yes. They asked us to hand the rice over in a package so that it could be used when they go to housekeeping."

There is some disposition among his friends to regard the letters as an ill-judged practical joke, but Caruso is convinced that his days are numbered and will not venture out without a body guard.

The Kentucky Senate, in a stormy session, and after a long debate over the county unit measure and the bill providing for the reading of the Bible in the public schools, virtually killed the Waggoner county unit bill.

Besides nominating Hon. Ben Johnson for Congress, the Democratic Committee of the Fourth Congressional district endorsed him for the Democratic nomination for Governor at a meeting at the Old Inn in Louisville Saturday.

Balmy weather, with no trace of ice or snow and with the crocuses and other spring flowers opening their first blooms to the flood of sunshine, mockingly greeted Washingtonians on the first anniversary of President Taft's inauguration and presented a striking example of what March 4 weather can be when there are no inaugural ceremonies and parade to mar.

would have been about as welcome to A. Cooper, of Oswego, N. Y., as a merciless lung-racking cough that defied all remedies for years. "It was most troublesome at night," he writes, "nothing helped me till I used Dr. King's New Discovery which cured me completely. I never cough at night now." Millions know its matchless merit for stubborn colds, obstinate coughs, sore lungs, la grippe, asthma, hemorrhage, croup, whooping cough, or hayfever. It relieves quickly and never fails to satisfy. POLITICAL DOINGS AT THE CAPITAL.

FRANKFORT, KY., MARCH 7.—The past week has been a busy one in legislative circles. The General Assembly is on the home stretch and is trying to make up lost speed. Bills are coming out of the hoppers via the Rules Committee every day and are rapidly getting into shape to become laws. The threatened bolt of the temperance republicans, after the Senate democrats had passed the Louisville Ripper bill, failed to materialize. The County Unit bill gasped its last in the Senate late Friday and was quietly laid away for another two years. Two measures had up to Saturday received the Governor's signature and are now laws. They were the bills to legalize the negotiation and transfer of tobacco warehouse receipts, and a bill affecting the schools in Louisville.

Amid much applause on Saturday the Senate passed the Litterall bill providing for the pensioning of Confederate soldiers who live in Kentucky. The act grants them an allowance of $150 a year. Lieut. Gov. Cox said from the chair that he regretted that he did not have a chance to vote for the bill. Several republicans spoke for it, and old Federal soldiers and life-long republicans like Capt. Ed Farley, State Treasurer, got out and electioneered for the bill. The "bloody shirt" will never wave in Kentucky when such instances are seen of amity between the once bitter enemies and evidences of such good feeling are shown by men who took part on the opposing sides of the internecine strife. Governor Willson is sure to sign the bill, and one more step will be taken to make more easy the pathway of those heroes who gave up their all for the Southern cause; and who are now fast fading from the land.

HUBBLE HELPS BOYLE COUNTY.
Senator "Took" Hubble did the good county of Boyle a good turn when he got through the bill appropriating $20,400 for improvements at the State School for the Deaf at Danville. It now goes to the House.

Senator Hubble and Editor W. V. Richardson, of the Danville Advocate, made the corridor of the Capital Hotel buzz for a short while Thursday night last week, when they were unable to agree on the question of whether or not Hubble had told Richardson he would favor the County Unit bill. The Senator demanded that Richardson cease the uncalled-for attacks on him in his paper. The retort courteous soon became the statement strenuous, and would have been worse still had not Joe Embury stopped a right swing that Senator Hubble made for Richardson's jaw. Mutual friends held the combatants until angry passions had subsided. Both gentlemen were urged by friends to consider the incident ended, and it is believed that they will see the wisdom of such a course.

REPORT ON PENITENTIARIES.
The long-expected report of State Examiner and Inspector M. H. Thatcher on his investigation of conditions at the State penitentiaries was made last week. It proved the bursting of a big bubble. Sensational charges had been made by a former warden of cruelty to prisoners, conniving with contractors on the part of commissioners and mismanagement of affairs in general. Mr. Thatcher says that he found there had been some irregularity under former administrations, but that the present administration of the prisons' affairs had improved conditions wonderfully. He says that the charges against officials of the penitentiaries were much exaggerated. George Chinn, the former warden who made the charges, is a splendid fellow in every way, but his friends here say that he was inclined to be too lax with the prisoners when he was at the helm and did not realize that the character of men who make up the convict population, soon overleap all bounds and override all authority unless restrained with a vigorous hand and taught the force of discipline. And nothing has proven as efficacious in accomplishing this as a goodly taste of the strap now and then. The State penitentiary cannot be run on Sunday-school plans and good behavior cannot be secured with gum drops and pretty phrases. As Thatcher is a republican and the three Prison Commissioners democrats, the report can be regarded as turning up the raw edge of everything that could be found not up to taw. There was no chance for a "white-washing."

HELM A SURE WINNER.

The meeting of the Eighth District Committee at Nicholasville attracted interest here last week. After action was taken, Will Price, of Boyle, and his friends came over to see Chairman Henry R. Prewitt, of the State Committee, to contest the calling of the primary on April 30, on the ground that the proxy of the Spencer committee was not voted as authorized. The hands of Congressman Helm have little fear of such a contest succeeding, however; and do not believe, anyway, that Price has any idea of getting into a hopeless race. Prewitt has often been heard to commend the idea of early selection of nominees, so that the party's candidates may have opportunity to make a thorough campaign against the republicans, and have time to heal any sore spots that may result from a close primary or convention. Harvey Helm is just as good as nominated again, and those who would wrest the honor from him might as well take their medicine and save their trouble.

CANTRILL A GONER.

Over in this, the Seventh district, Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill is seeking a renomination and making a great ado over his defense of the Kentucky tobacco growers in Congress. But the tobacco growers in this section are mighty doubtful of Cantrill's sincerity. The Burley Tobacco Society is watching his trail carefully and he is going to have a fight before he is through, if present prospects pan out. The Burley people say that Cantrill tried to beat them with his Equity Society and when he found out they had him whipped, he got in line again. Cantrill has been known here at Frankfort as a lobbyist for the whisky interests and the liquor interests are very anxious to keep him in the National Congress. Two years ago Cantrill promised to support for Congress this time Senator Claude Thomas, of Bourbon county, if the latter desired to run. Thomas has not made up his mind yet, but Cantrill has already announced his own candidacy again. There is some talk here of W. Rogers Clay, of Lexington, Commissioner of the Court of Appeals, getting into the running. Any high-class man can beat Cantrill this time, for the people are "on to" him. He won't do.

A UNIQUE BILL.

Old toppers who sometimes appear upon the streets with larger loads than they can safely accommodate, will be up against it if the House puts through a bill the Senate passed today. This bill provides a fine of $100 and 10 or more days in jail for anyone who is seen publicly drunk. The next thing we know the old blue law prohibiting a man from kissing his wife on Sunday will be revived. Are all the pleasures of life to be eradicated by such sumptuary legislation?

AN OLD LINCOLN COUNTY BOY.

I have "dug up" a couple more ex-Lincolmites here in Frankfort. There seems to be a clannishness connected with those who have ever made that garden spot their home, which lingers as long as life lasts. And no matter how far from "home" one may wander, it's a good wager he won't be there long until he finds someone who hails from Lincoln. The workhouse keeper at Frankfort is a former Lincoln county boy. His name is Emil Haldi, and no better Dutchman ever lived. He told me with pride that he formerly lived near McKinney, and his folks are still living in that section, I believe. Haldi is one of the very best officials of this city. Everyone likes him, and his administration of affairs at the city bastille has been the best ever known. He never has any opposition for the office any more, for the citizens would rise up in arms were he deposed. As a member of the city council I have twice had the pleasure of voting for him, and he is truly deserving of all the good things that can be said of him.

At one of the main tables in the Capital Hotel dining-room, at which the Lincoln county contingent here at the legislative session eat frequently, the waiter is an old Lincoln county colored boy, Will Baughman, by name. He has been away from home eight years, and tells with much pleasure how he is going back for a visit soon.

S. M. S.

The action of the Eighth Congressional District Committee, which met at Nicholasville on the 3rd inst., in adopting a resolution providing for a primary election as the best method of nominating a democratic candidate for Congress in this district, exhibits sound judgment on the part of the committee. Previous to the meeting of the committee every effort to persuade the committee to call a convention had been exhausted, but the committee decided that the welfare of the party would be best subserved by a primary. After the resolution providing for a primary had been adopted there was some difference among the committeemen as to the time of holding the primary; the majority of the members thinking it best to hold it at an early date in order to avoid the fast-approaching busy season among the farmers, commencing with the seeding season and including the harvest period, which extends well into the fall; as well as to avoid complications with the State races that are rapidly pressing to the front. Besides, the time intervening between the date of the committee meeting last Thursday and the date fixed for the primary—April 30, 1910—is the same length of time prescribed by the committee for making the last nomination for Congress in this district, and is about the same length of time prescribed by the committees for making nominations in the three Congressional districts where the nominations have already been made. The only one who made an effort through his friends to induce the committee to take a different view and have it fix a time to suit his interests was Hon. W. J. Price, of Boyle, who was a candidate four years ago and who has been a prospective candidate ever since and has been prosecuting his candidacy in the district with more or less vigor all the while. He also undertook to convince the committee that a primary could be held in this district composed of 10 counties for $1,500, when he well knows that the late judicial primary in the counties of Lincoln, Boyle, Garrard and Mercer cost $1,200. His effort to control a proxy held by a member of the committee by long distance telephone to a gentleman not a committeeman and who stated to the committee that he did not know the committeeman to whom he talked over the phone, was as untenable as the other positions taken by him before the committee. In fact we judge from the reports we have seen and heard that his aim, after he realized that he was unable to secure a convention, was to create confusion and discord, with a view, if possible, of making some cheap campaign capital, and this conclusion is strengthened by his absurd appeal to the State Central Committee. The people want contests of this character over as soon as possible and we are of the opinion that the action of the committee will give general satisfaction.

EDITOR W. B. HANSFORD, who has made the Somerset Republican a newsy and creditable paper for many years, has retired, leaving his son, Mr. E. H. Hansford, a capable young newspaper man, in charge of the paper. Editor Hansford will take a much needed rest and here's hoping that he will greatly enjoy it.

FIRE.—John S. Baughman's big warehouse on the railroad, back of the mill, burned about 10 o'clock Friday night. The building, which cost about $1,200, and which was not insured, was entirely destroyed, notwithstanding the gallant fight the fire ladders made. Some 2,000 pounds of tobacco bought by Mr. W. P. Kincaid and considerable hemp purchased for Spears & Son by Mr. E. P. Woods went up in the flames. 16 hogsheads of tobacco had been moved out of the warehouse the afternoon before and only a few days previous 4,000 bushels of wheat were taken from the building. ELIXIR SPRINGS.—Mine host, Frank M. Sims, has changed the name of his well-known health resort from New Olympian Springs to Elixir Springs, in order that mail for his patrons and that for the patrons of Olympian Springs, in Bath county, may not be sent to the wrong place. He was here last week and left a big order for advertising for his great health-producing resort.

THROUGH an oversight we failed to mention last issue the excellent entertainment given by Mrs. A. D. Reid, assisted by Mrs. Hubble and the young folks of Somerset on Monday night of last week. Every number was well rendered and to give each one who deserved it special mention would take too much space. The large audience enjoyed much the evening entertainment and gave hearty applause to each succeeding number.—Somerset Republican.

TAKE NO CHANCES.—There were 12 "Legal Reserve" Companies organized in the South alone, in 1909. There are 22 companies in the South now in process of organization, each claiming to be able ultimately to absorb the other. Some of them will fail. If you have money to invest in insurance, place it with the "Old Reliable" Mutual Benefit, nearly three quarters of a century old, and one that will be here when many of these new companies are only a memory. Write for sample policy to R. M. Newland, agt., Stanford, Ky.

SAUFLEY.—After an illness of some seven weeks, Mr. George B. Saufley's soul took its flight to mansions above at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. That dread disease, typhoid fever, caused his demise. He was the third son of Judge and Mrs. M. C. Saufley, was 28 years old only a few days since and was one of the most gifted and accomplished young men in Kentucky. As a lawyer he had few equals in the State and as a gentleman no superiors. His death has cast a gloom over this entire community and every heart in it goes out to those whose cup of sorrow is filled to overflowing. A more extended notice of Mr. Saufley's life will appear next issue. No arrangements for the burial have yet been made.

WILLIAM EMENEGER, foreman of the work on the new courthouse in Stanford, lost his balance while examining the topmost part of the cupola on the building and fell into the cellar below. His life was saved by the fact that the cellar was full of water and prevented his body from striking a solid surface. It is a mystery how he escaped the scaffolding and timbers in the building. Had his body in its downward course varied six inches from the course it took he would have been instantly killed.—Danville dispatch to the Cincinnati Enquirer. Those of our readers who saw our account of the fall of some 20 or 25 feet the young man had will realize what a big one the Danville correspondent told. And it is not the first one either.

FOR SALE.—A second-handed Frazzle cart. W. H. Higgins.

THOROUGHbred Black Minorca eggs, $1 per setting. Mrs. W. H. Wearen.

THE young folks had a big time at the rink Saturday night. A good crowd was present.

THOSE indebted to the firm of Tribble & Pence are requested to settle their accounts at once. The firm has dissolved and their affairs must be straightened up. W. A. Tribble.

FROM the beautiful Shenandoah Valley, The Harrisonburg Times says: "It is safe to say that a more thoroughly delighted audience has never been present at Assembly Hall than the large crowd that witnessed Mrs. Reid's Delsarte entertainment last evening. The program was truly artistic and one that was attuned to suit the taste of the most aesthetic and exacting critic, at the same time, the humorous element was so keenly and adroitly interwoven that even the most commonplace observer had ample opportunity to laugh and enjoy the program." The same program will be given at Walton's Opera House next Friday evening by 75 of our young people. You can't afford to miss it.

ANNOUNCEMENT of the death of Miss Florence Bibb, which occurred at the home of her sister, Mrs. A. E. Godwin, will occasion widespread regret to a large circle of devoted friends. For several weeks Miss Bibb's health had not been good, but not until a few days before the end did her family and physicians despair of her recovery. She was the daughter of Mrs. Richard Bibb and was born in Stanford, Ky., where she spent much of her girlhood and young womanhood, until a few years ago, when she came to Nashville and united herself with the First Presbyterian church. From a long line of Southern ancestry this young woman had inherited beautiful traits of character. In disposition she was gentle, unselfish and lovable, combining the practical and artistic qualities in an exceptionally attractive type. She bore her sufferings with that spirit of resignation and fortitude that was characteristic of her. In the death of this young lady her kindred and friends feel something more than bereavement. She is survived by her mother and two sisters—Mrs. Godwin and Mrs. Ben Ransom, both of this city.—Nashville Banner.

Warren Dennis' big livery stable at Georgetown was destroyed by fire. Seven horses burned. Loss $10,000.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of Mr. Chas. Scott, whose spirit took its flight Feb. 16, 1910, of a complication of troubles, aged 73.

Thou art gone and we shall miss thee, We shall miss, father, dear, When the lamps at eve are lighted And we all are gathered here.

In the dear old family room, Where so oft with the we've met; Thou art gone and we shall miss thee, But we will not thee forget.

We shall miss thee when the morning Sheds on us its beauty fair, And the busy day is calling Us again to toil and care.

We shall miss thee when at noonday We have all sat down to eat We shall miss thee or thy dear voice Never more our ears to greet.

We shall miss thy coming footsteps When the evening shades draw nigh And the golden sun is setting In the bright lit western sky.

We shall miss thee when we gather 'Round the fire so warm and bright And its cheerful blaze gives comfort On a cold and chilling night.

But we know that thou art resting, Free from suffering, toil and care, And again we hope to meet thee In that land so bright and fair; When our life on earth is ended And we all have one by one Passed through death's dark, unknown portal To that happy, heavenly home.
